

Lori Borgman Bio

Lori Borgman is a newspaper columnist, author, and speaker. Her newspaper column touches on a wide array of topics ranging from the truth about nagging to the hazards of upper arm flab. Lori's column is in distribution to more than 400 newspapers and media outlets throughout the country. She is also the author of the popular essay "The Death of Common Sense," which has gone viral and is published in the U.S., Canada, Great Britain, Australia, Ireland, Finland, Iceland, Portugal, Spain, Greece, and the Philippines.

She is the author of seven books, including her most recent, "What Happens at Grandma's Stays at Grandma's."

Lori is a frequent speaker at author lecture series, libraries, church groups, and civic groups. She notes two of her greatest privileges include addressing a Spouses of Congress event at the U.S. Capitol and delivering the commencement address to college graduates at the Indiana Women's Prison.

Lori and her husband live in Indianapolis. They have three grown and married children and 11 grandchildren.

